Rice procurement for the kharif marketing season 2006-07 estimated to 250 to 270 lakh tonnes. Andhra Pradesh, Chattisgarh and Orissa reportedly procured more than that of previous years. However, the production in Punjab and Haryana is down on shortage of rainfall. The total rice procurement in the last kharif season was 276.77 lakh tonnes.

GOI to Purchase More Rice From Farmers

India Govt. likely to purchase about 25-27 MMT of rice from the local farmers in the year to September 2007. The government has already gone above its rice purchase target of 23 million MT for the current marketing year that ends next month. The government declared to purchase common and fine grades of rice directly from farmers at INR620/100 kilograms and INR650/100 kilograms. The procurement of the large volume of rice is likely to cushion against the short supply of wheat to some extent and also to reduce the wheat import burden.

Indonesia is about to lift ban on rice imports to maintain the stocks for the country's 220 million people. The decision on imports of rice will be come in public notice within coming fortnight.

DOMESTIC MARKET COMMENTARY

Sentiments remained almost steady to somewhat firm in different major spot market of Rice on somewhat lower supply amidst good demand. The arrivals of non-basmati rice are restricted somewhat from major producing belts. However, the arrival is likely to increase in the end of this month. The peak arrivals of sharbati rice in different major markets are expected to October. A good acreage of kharif rice i.e. 30.5 million hectares so far and conducive weather condition is likely to increase the production to a good extent in the current year. According to National Council of Applied Economic Research (NCAER) the total Kharif Rice production likely to be increased by 2.4%-3.7% and estimated to 79.9-80.9 million tonne in this year. However, the higher production is not likely to harm the farmers' livelihood as Govt. of India has declared to purchase common and fine grades of rice directly from farmers at INR620/100 kilograms and INR650/100 kilograms respectively. The Govt. is also likely to purchase a higher amount of about 25-27 MMT of rice from the local farmers in the year to September 2007. The Asian market of rice is also going through bullish path due to lower stocks. The higher production will facilitate the export market of India to offer the same in competitive prices as against Vietnam and Thailand. Moreover, Japan is now looking at India for non Basmati rice in the wake of suspended imports from USA after long grain rice tested positive for trace amounts of a genetically modified strain not approved for human consumption. Therefore, it is expected that India can gain opportunity to extend its global market export on rice. Presently, India is in a positioned to sell 300,000 to 400,000 MT of non-basmati rice to Japan. The anticipation of good production and favourable MSP by the Govt. lead the stockiest to release their stocks shortly. The domestic demand remained steady and likely to increase in the coming months due to several festivals. The price of different varieties of rice offered in the Delhi market like, Rice basmati (lal quila) 4400, Shri Lal Mahal 4600, Basmati common 2800-2850, Parmal raw new 1000-1030, Parmal wand 1110-1140, Sela 1130-1180 and rice IR-8 920-950 during the week. The export demand, Govt. purchasing directly from the farmers, total production will determine the rice sentiments in coming future.
