REFINE SOY OIL

SPOT MARKETS

Refined soy prices remain steady in most of the centers with slight decline in the Indore spot market. The market is in wait and watch condition and closely following the developments in international market. This week witnessed low volume of arrivals of imported SBO at 14000 MT that is not expected to pressurize the market as per traders. However the total arrivals of imported oil including palm oil group remain at 134933 MT that still remain a meagre quantity. The rise in crude oil prices has significantly had a bullish impact over the market and traders are watching closely any further developments. Lack lusture trade could be seen in most of the centers. The CIF rate for refined soy oil for September shipment remain at $580 on Saturday. The prices are expected to follow the developments in overseas market and movement in the crude oil prices.

FUTURES MARKETS:

Soy oil futures opened weak and decline sharply on speculative selling. Some improvement could be seen on the later trading session on short covering and idea about expected festival demand. October soy oil futures opened at 422.40 and traded in the range of 422.90 and 426.40 and settled at 420.30.

PRICE DRIVERS:

Bullish:

1. Low crop forecast in advance estimates
2. Improved crude oil prices at NYMEX

Bearish:

1. Improving weather situation
2. Low consumer demands

Weather

Heavy rainfall in Southern and Central region is expected to cause crop damage as the crop is in flowering stage.

TECHNICALS

Doji star formation by Candlestick indicating possible improvement into the market. Stochastic remain firm and indicating strength. Prices closed below 9 days and 18 days EMA indicating weak sentiments. MACD remain bullish but remain parallel and flat. Volume decline marginally while OI remain almost steady. Trade with caution as the market lack proper direction and remain volatile at this juncture.
