REFINED SOY OIL

FUNDAMENTALS

Spot market prices of refined soy oil remained firm nationwide on exceeding demand to supply against yesterday. Market is optimistic to higher prices in off-session support new buying and sees upward prices movement. In major growing areas rising soybeans prices helped to market to stay in firm tune. In few centres, little shortage accounted for price improvement while, in Hyderabad, flaccid demand witnessed fall in prices. Rising CBOT soy oil futures provided firm direction to domestic market in spite of closure of BMD crude palm oil futures. Improvement in crude oil and CIF prices added another bulls in the market. CIF prices improved during the week about $ 22, which had significant positive impact on domestic market. CIF prices of refined soy oil were quoted at $707 for December shipment on Saturday.

Sentiments of demand in physical market to downward directions, weak soy oil projections and lack of risk taker on Friday lead into speculative selling and turned market bearish during most part of trade-session at NCDEX soy oil futures.

PRICE DRIVERS:

1. Rising soybeans prices
2. Rise in CIF prices
3. Firmness in CBOT soy oil futures
4. Improvement in crude oil prices

Weather

Dry weather in major producing areas, supportive to fresh arrival.

TECHNICALS

The small filled body candlestick with nearly equal upper and lower shadow indicates robust trade activity of indecisiveness between buyers and sellers during trade-session. Stochastic are in overbought regions and moving to downward direction after making bearish crossover. The prices closed just above 9 day and 18 day EMA indicating still firmness in market. MACD showed slightly downward movement. As compare to last day both volume and OI are declined.
