URAD

FUNDAMENTALS

Urad prices remained steady in most of the spot markets. The mandis are seeing routine arrivals, whereas demand side is still sagging. Demand has become price sensitive these days; at the same time supply is also not so high to put pressure on the prices. The harvesting season is on and arrivals will increase with the progress of harvest. Further according to reports, NAFED has This is against a total contracted quantity of 49300 tonnes of pulses comprising 37000 tonnes of urad and 12300 tonnes of moong of Myanmar orig. Thus somewhat weaker sentiments are waiting for tur ahead. Currently small crop of Assam is being reaped. The next big crop to come to the markets is that of Andhra Pradesh, until then the sentiments are likely to remain steady.

Futures Market Commentary

Urad futures at NCDEX bounced higher today as speculative buying pushed the prices higher. The futures started the session on a firmer note at Rs 3484. The prices then dipped to see the lows of Rs 3509. The prices then recouped to see the highs of Rs 3566 before finally closing the day at Rs 3551. The volumes traded were normal at 38070 MT.

Price Drivers

Bullish

Higher prices in global markets
Slight improvement in market activity

Bearish

Low demand of Dall at higher prices
Harvesting continues in Eastern part

Weather

Weather has improved in the eastern part of the country, which is good for harvesting of Urad in Assam and West Bengal and maturing crop in Orissa.

TECHNICALS

NCDEX -December Contract

Urad charts are showing tentativeness at higher levels. Candlesticks are indicating bullish sentiments prevailing in the market. MACD is gaining strength in negative zone. Oscillators like Stochastic and RSI are bullish in neutral region. Prices closed above 9 days and 18 days moving averages indicating bullishness in prices. The prices are expected to remain firm.

CHANA

FUNDAMENTALS

Chana markets witnessed some more improvements in the prices at spot markets. Stocks of the commodity are at lower levels and thus some buying interest in thin market has resulted in triggered prices. However, the same is not likely to last for long as the commodity demand has become quite price sensitive. Once the prices bounce higher, slackening in demand can be again seen. Fundamentals seem slightly on the steady side with shorter stock and corresponding lower demand.

Futures Market Commentary

Chana futures at the NCDEX also saw firm movements today after yesterday's volatile movements. The trading for the day in December Chana futures on the NCDEX started on firmer note at Rs 2834 and since then it has never looked back. The contract saw the highs of Rs 2899 during the session and closed at the same position. Some firmness in the physical markets was also seen.

Price Drivers

Bullish

Reports of export of small quantity of Chana by the government

Bearish

Lower quotes by Australia for chickpea

Poor demand at retail ends

Due arrival of imported Chana

Weather

Weather is congenial for the Rabi crop in most growing regions.

TECHNICALS

NCDEX -December Contract

Chana charts are displaying slight bounce in prices after the recent downstream. Candlesticks are reflecting bullish sentiments prevailing in the market. MACD is in support of bulls, as it has turned higher in the negative zone. 9-EMA is below the closing prices thus indicating slight firmness prevailing in the market. Oscillators like stochastics and Relative strength index are running upwards in neutral region thus indicating bullishness in the market. The contract might witness bullish movement of prices.

TUR

FUNDAMENTALS

Tur markets witnessed steady sentiments today. The trade continues to remain lack luster in the entire pulses on account of weakness in dal demand from retail end. The harvesting season is on and arrivals will increase with the progress of harvest. Thus somewhat weaker sentiments are waiting for tur ahead. Currently small crops of Haryana are being reaped. Some patches of UP is also lining up. The next big crop to come to the markets is that of Karnataka by early December. So, the supply pressure will build up slowly with the progress of harvest. The Tur production this year is expected to decrease this year.

Futures Market Commentary

Tur Futures at NCDEX traded on the firmer side today supported by firmness in the other pulses. December contract of Tur started the day on a bullish note at Rs 1782 and then it never traded in red. The prices peaked at Rs 1796 in today's trade and close at Rs 1785. The fundamentals still remain on the softer side, thanks to the arrival of the harvesting season.

Price Drivers

Bullish

Depleting stocks

Bearish

Fresh arrivals in Haryana started

Harvesting in some patches of UP is about to start.

Lower demand for dal

Weather

Weather is congenial for Tur harvest in Haryana and UP.

TECHNICALS

NCDEX -December Contract

Tur charts are showing bearish sentiments prevailing in the market. Candlesticks are reflecting indecision at the current levels. MACD has made a bullish crossover with its signal line in the negative region. RSI is increasing and Stochastic Oscillator is rising from oversold region and moving towards neutral territory. Prices might remain tentative at current levels.

OTHERS

Moong

Moong markets remained stale in most of the centers in the absence of any fresh inputs to the market. Depleting arrivals and poor availability caused some interest among the buyers despite weaker demand in the retail end. Arrivals are decreasing with the passage of time, which is likely to support the prices. The only pressure for the prices are subdued demand, thus we look a range bound movement in the commodity.

Field Peas

Field pea prices remained range bound at most of the terminal markets. However, the fundamentals still remain on the softer side as imports continue to fulfill the domestic demand. Though the prices of Canadian and Australian pea are higher this year on account of poor production, they are still finding avenues like India to sell their produce at premium. Indian market has good demand for the same, as higher prices of other pulses are forcing consumers with lower income to switch to the peas. However, bulk of imported peas in the Indian markets are now pressuring the prices down as with the approach of winter season demand is also shifting towards cheaper vegetables.

Masoor

Masoor markets remained steady to slightly firm in conjunction with the other pulses especially Chana. Government decision to export 2000MT of masoor might have provided some support to the prices. Lack luster trading along with availability of cheaper alternative like vegetables are not allowing the prices to surge high.
