

Wheat Domestic Fundamentals:

- Prices of wheat remained subdued on varied factors like higher availability, increased supply against demand and export decision deferred for at least a month from now.
- India will not allow any wheat or rice exports from government stocks, despite ample supplies and bumper production this year.

Wheat International Fundamental:

- US wheat futures close higher, with MGEX leading the rally on concerns about wet weather preventing planting. Weather is giving wheat growers a double whammy.
- It is too dry in China and Europe, and there are excessive rains in the U.S.
- Rains continue to keep farmers out of fields in North Dakota.

Outlook: Domestic

Prices of wheat is likely to be under pressure on higher stock, better supply prospects and doubt over opening up export. Export on commercial basis is unlikely despite better procurement. Surplus stock with lower demand will weigh on the wheat market in short term.
