

Wheat Domestic Fundamentals:

- Wheat market remained steady to slightly firm on possibility of export in months ahead. However overall outlook seems to be bearish as disparity is higher at present market conditions. Wheat and wheat products demand is expected to increase in weeks ahead amid commencement of festivals from the second week of August.
- After lots of hicks up export ban on wheat finally came to an end .However, timing of removal of ban is wrong. Market sources say that it is right decision on wrong time. Export ban has been removed at a time when international market is at low and Indian wheat is by no way is competitive in the international market.

Wheat International Fundamental:

- World wheat market is expected to be unsteady on weather concern throughout the world. Worry over Canada crop increases, production estimate may be revised down. Demands for wheat and wheat products are likely to increase. Results of Egypt's latest tender Friday reminded traders of just how competitive the wheat market is and how US prices are overvalued in world export markets.
- Outlook: Domestic:
- Wheat market may get support on possibility of export and declining arrivals. Market expects slight improvements in weeks ago in the international market.
