

Domestic Fundamentals:

- Steady to weak sentiments featured in the domestic edible oil market due to weak global cues.
- Overnight losses in CBOT soy oil and persistent weakness in Malaysian palm oil pressured the market.
- The refined soy oil prices mostly remained weak, palm, rapeseed and cottonseed oils featured losses across the major markets while refined sunflower and groundnut oil remained steady due to sluggish buying activity.
- Edible oil basket may feature steady to weak tone in the absence of fresh buying activity..

International Market Fundamentals:

- Malaysian CPO at BMD ended lower to MYR 2,865/Tons (Nov. contract) on industry data ahead and higher palm oil stocks.
- As per oil world, global palm oil production may reach to 54.0 million tons in 2012/2013(Oct- Sept) compared with around 50.8 million tons in 2011/12(Oct- Sept). Moreover, Indonesia's 2012/2013 palm oil output will rise to 26.60 million tons compared to from 25.02 million tonnes in 2011/12 and the second largest palm oil producers, Malaysia output would surge to 19.36 million tons for 2012/2013 from 18.06 million tons.

Outlook:

We expect edible oil prices to trade steady tone until the fresh Kharif oilseeds arrive in the market.
