

Domestic Fundamentals:

- Edible oils featured firm tone in various market centers on Tuesday.
- Domestic soy oil and soy oil prices futures rose on demand prospects and rise in international benchmark. BMD CPO palm oil futures and CBOT soy oil rose on demand prospects. Crude oil prices were trading higher on Tuesday.
- Imports of edible oils rose in the month of December on the back of firm palm oil and sunflower oil imports. CPO imports continued its firm trend for six the month. Imports of RBD palmolein rose on weak base. Higher CPO imports in December have led to surge in ports stocks of CPO which will weigh on its prices. RBD palmolein port stocks fell in December despite higher imports. However, imports performance of CPO and RBD palmoelin will reverse from January as fresh import duty cut was effective from 2019. Imports of RBD palmolein will rise due to higher import parity and margins in imports will be higher than domestic refined RBD palmoelin. Sunflower oil imports rose in December due to lower prices of sunflower oil in international markets and low premium of sunflower oil over soy oil and same import duty on both oils. Sunflower will show strong January on the back of low premium over soy oil. Soy oil showed weak imports in December on seasonal downtrend. However, imports of soy oil will see gradual rise in coming months as production of domestic oil is not high to cut imports and refining of imported soy oil is in parity. January import read will be important to watch as import duty reduction of palm oil especially RBD palmolein from Malaysia which received preferential treatment in import duty compared to other palm oil importers.

RBD palmolein imports rose 22.43 percent in Dec y-o-y to 1.31 lakh tons from 1.07 lakh tons in Dec 2017.
