Domestic Veg. Oil Market Summary

Edible oil witnessed weak sentiment during the week on gains in CBOT soybean oil and BMD CPO. Soy oil, rapeseed oil, refined sunflower oil, groundnut oil and coconut oil closed lower while palm oil closed higher.

On the currency front, Indian rupee against USD closed at 67.07, down 155 paisa compared to the previous week. Factors to watch in the coming weeks will be movement of Indian rupee against US dollar and crude oil prices.

We expect edible oil complex to trade sideways to firm tone in anticipation of firm demand. High stocks at port and in pipelines, new supplies from US and strong USD may underpin prices.

Soy oil Fundamental Analysis and Outlook-:

Domestic Front

- Soy oil featured down trend at its benchmark market in Indore during the week in review on higher supply.
- Agriwatch View- Soy oil prices witnessed downtrend during the week on higher supply. However, prices are expected to recover on stocking ahead of festivals and seasonal uptrend of prices. In USD terms, premium of soy oil over palm oil was USD 78.5 (USD 120 last week). Rise in prices of palm oil will help prices. Prices of soy oil are expected to be firm in near term.

- ➢ We expect soy oil to trade sideways to firm in the coming days.

International Front

Agriwatch view – Expectation of higher crop of soybean in South America especially Brazil adding to already flooded market along with appreciation of dollar on anticipated FED hikes in 2016 has led to correction of prices. Lower crush of soybean in US by US crushers as reported by USDA has raised expectation of weak supply of soy oil. Crush of soybean in US in February and March will be lower on lower price of soy meal. Lower US soybean crop area, yield and production expectations in US and weather concerns in Argentina will support price. Brazil crop conditions are better than expected and production is set to touch 101.3 MMT, according to Informa. Harvesting in Brazil is progressing faster on clear weather.

Soy oil premium over palm oil is very low which will replace palm in key importing destinations like India. Rise in prices of crude oil will support prices. Prices of soy oil are in a range with upward bias.

- Lower soybean area in coming season in United States and rains in key growing areas of Argentina has supported prices in near term. Brazil soybean crop is expected to be higher on lower than expected loss on irregular rains in key soybean growing areas. US crush of soybean is expected to be lower in February on lower soy meal prices. Depreciation of Argentina peso is unlikely to increase soybean release from farmers on expectation of stronger dollar on expected FED hikes in 2016. Lower soybean crush in US will reduce soy oil stocks in US pushing prices. USDA has reduced crush of soybean in US in its February report. USDA is expected to decrease Argentina soybean crop in its March report. Soy oil prices are supported by palm oil and improvement of crude oil. Prices are in a range with upward bias.
- The National Oilseed Processors Association (NOPA) reported US January 2016 soy oil stocks at 1.526 billion Ibs v/s 1.481 billion Ibs in December 2015, higher by 3 percent m-o-m. Soy oil was the largest feedstock with about 53 percent of the total biodiesel production.
- USDA WASDE Oilseeds Highlights: The 2015/16 season-average soybean price range projection is unchanged at $8.05 to $9.55 per bushel. Soybean meal and oil price projections are also unchanged at $270 to $310 per short ton and 28.5 to 31.5 cents per pound, respectively.

Price Outlook:

- Crude palm oil at Kandla featured uptrend in its benchmark market on firm demand.
- Agriwatch View Low soy oil premium over palm oil, which is hovering at USD 78.5 (USD 120 last week) per ton, negative refining margins may decrease imports. Stocking ahead of festive season in North and East India, seasonal uptrend of prices of palm oil will improve prices in near term. Higher import of RBD palmolein has increased disparity on high seas. Disparity on high seas and high stocks on ports and in pipelines will cap gains. Prices of palm oil are low compared to other oils, which may induce demand. Prices are expected to be sideways to higher.

- Palm oil import scenario According to SEA India imported 6.88 lakh tons of palm oil in January 2016 v/s 6.58 lakh tons in January 2015, up 4.5 percent y-o-y. - On the parity front, margins weakened during this week due to fall in prices of palm oil products. Currently refiners get USD -85-90/ton v/s USD 80-85/ton (last month) margin in processing the imported CPO and imports of ready to use palmolein fetches USD -65-70/ton v/s USD -70-75/ton (last month) parity.
- > We expect palm oil to trade sideways to firm in the days ahead.

International Front

- Agriwatch View Negative price differential between Malaysia RBD palmolein and Crude palm oil (CPO) Indonesia will improve demand of palm oil from Malaysia. Aggressive pricing by Malaysia will move buyers from Indonesia to Malaysia especially China. Exports from Malaysia are expected to improve in March and seasonal increase of demand while production will be low on El Nino drawing stocks of palm oil in Malaysia. Malaysia did not impose export duties on palm oil to protect its market share despite higher prices of palm oil. Palm oil stocks are expected to be lower in coming months on reduced production of palm on El Nino. Malaysia's production is weak while exports are expected to improve raising expectations of drawing stocks of palm oil in Malaysia. Ringgit appreciation is risk to prices. Prices are in range with upwards bias.
- According to Societe Generale de Surveillance (SGS), Malaysia's palm oil exports fell by 16.9 percent in February to 955,604 tons from 1,149,255 tons in January 2016. - According to Malaysia's palm oil industry regulator Malaysia Palm Oil Board (MPOB), Malaysia's January palm oil ending stocks fell by 12.38 percent to 2.31 MMT from 2.63 MMT in December 2015. Manufacturers are having low stock of coconut oil which will help prices in coming days, according to CDB. This fall in price of coconut oil has increased demand by 10-15 percent due to lower difference in prices compared to other edible oils, according to Cochin Oil Merchants Association (COMA).
