International Market Update:

Russia will impose a wheat export quota of 8 million tonnes for the period from Feb. 15 to the end of June. The export quota is intended to reduce Russia's domestic food price inflation and also could force wheat importers to increasingly seek out supplies from other major producers, including the US and Australia.

In Pakistan, the ongoing fertilizer shortage has created fears that the country may once again miss its wheat production target. The officials have already set the target at 28.9 million MT up by 6 percent compared to previous year. But this target seems out of the reach as the crop is undergoing major risk due to fertilizer shortage.

In CBOT, wheat futures were up 20.6% for the year and were on track for their fifth straight yearly gain and their biggest since 2010. Crop problems in Australia and worries about export curbs in Russia have supported the wheat market throughout 2021.

Jordan's state grain buyer has issued an international tender to buy 120,000 tonnes of milling wheat. The deadline for submission of price offers in the tender is January 5th.

China will sell 500,000 tonnes of wheat at auction from state reserves on January 5th 2022. Chinese feed producers took a break on wheat from the state stockpiles during auctions in the last crop year to replace corn, whose prices had soared to record levels.

As per USDA, Russia's wheat production in the marketing year 2021-22 (July-June) is expected to reach 75.5 million mt, while exports could hit 36 million mt. As per sources, Russian wheat has shown high quality, with milling wheat accounting for 86% of the harvested crop so far.

As per Buenos Aires grain exchange, Argentina could harvest more than the currently forecasted 21.5 million tonnes of wheat during 2021-22 as the yields continue to increase than expected. As of now 89.7 percent of the crop have been harvested.
